The Fruits of War.

Not long ago I visited the town of Novara, in northern Italy. There in a wheatfield the farmers have plowed up skulls of men until they have piled up a pyramid 10 or 12 feet high. Over this pyramid some one has built a canopy to keep off the rain. These were the skulls of young men of Savoy, Sardinia and Austria—men of 18 to 35 years of age, peasants from the farms and workmen from the shops—who met at Novara to kill each other over a matter in which they had very little concern.

Further on Frenchmen, Austrians and Italians fell together at Magenta, the hue of the blood that flowed out under the olive trees. Go over Italy as you will there is scarcely a spot not crimsoned by the blood of France, scarcely a railway station without its pile of French skulls. You can trace them across to Egypt, to the foot of the pyramids. You will find them in Germany—at Jena and Leipzig, at Lutzen and Bautzen and Austerlitz. You will find them in Russia at Moscow, in Belgium at Waterloo. "A boy can stop a bullet as well as a man," said Napoleon. And with the rest are the skulls and bones of boys "ere evening to be trodden like the grass."—Popular Science Monthly.

Queer Turkish Fish.

April 15 is the great feast day of "Bakluki," or place of fishes. This is a small church situated outside the walls of Constantinople, and it enjoyed no particular reputation before the conquest of Constantinople by the Turks. At the time of the invasion, however, a monk was cooking some fish there when a messenger came and told him that the Turks had entered Constantinople. The monk did not believe the story and said he would sooner believe that the half-cooked fish would jump back into the water. As he spoke the fish jumped back into the water, and since then the place has had a great reputation for its healing powers.

A church has been built over the spring dedicated to "Our Lady of the Fishes," and on this day a regular pilgrimage takes place from all parts of the town. Many sick are carried thither, and many miraculous cures are reported. The truth of the story is proved by the presence in a large middle-lined tank the church of the lineal descendants of the half-cooked fish. Any one who does not believe has only to look in the water, and he will see them, brown on one side and white on the other, swimming about at their ease.

Sea Bathing.

A person can easily determine with one indulgence whether or not open air bathing is hurtful to him. If circulation is speedily restored after he has left the water, if his skin is well reddened and he is soon well warmed up and as strong and "lively" as when he took his first plunge, then he may properly assume that his bath has done him good. If, on the other hand, his skin continues cold and clammy for 15 or 20 minutes, notwithstanding the brisk rubbing he gives himself, and for an hour or more afterward he is weak, dull and languid, then he may be tolerably certain that there is something wrong with him which forbids cold bathing.

A Pot Wallpaper.

The parliamentary register for 1896 showed that there was then only one pot wallpaper in all England. One seeing the term for the first time might easily imagine that a pot wallpaper was a species of ichthyosaurus or some other reptile of a prehistoric age. It will be discovered upon inquiry, however, that the term "pot wallpaper" is literally one who boils a pot and was applied to voters in certain boroughs of England where, before the passage of the reform bill of 1832, the qualifications for suffrage was to have boiled (wallpapered) his own pot in the parish for six months.

A Curious Tree.

There is a curious combination tree in West Stockbridge, Mass. It is primarily a maple which measures a foot from the ground, 12 feet 3 inches in circumference. Fifteen feet from the ground there are one or two birch limbs growing, and higher up are currant and raspberry bushes which bear fruit each year. It is not stated whether the tree is a native or was introduced by man, but the birch bark has a tart berry flavor, or the birch bark a tart berry flavor and taste, or the berries a spicy tang of birch. It is very old and bids fair to stand for many years longer.

His Manners All in a Bunch.

The laundress' little boy is being strenuously brought up "by hand." "Why, mum," she said despairingly, "if I pounded that boy black and blue I couldn't learn him his manners. Here, Willie!" to the urchin, who was looking confusedly at some pennies given him by the mistress. "What do you say to the lady?"

Willie looked troubled. Then, "Yes, ma'am; no, ma'am; please, thank you, excuse me," he said breathlessly, remembering all his manners" at once, the occasion evidently being great.

There's Etiquette in All Trades.

A lady who imprudently explained to a fishmonger the other day that her purchase was intended for the cat's dinner was a little hurt at receiving it wrapped up in a newspaper. "I understood, as it wasn't for yourself, mum," replied the fishmonger loftily, "we never wraps up in brown when it's for cats!"—London Chronicle.

The Human Jaw.

The human jaw is very loosely socketed in the skull, so that it is often dislocated by the mere act of yawning. Not being intended for biting purposes, offensive or defensive, no attention seems to have been paid by nature to making it fast.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

"Something New Under The Sun."

All Doctors have tried to cure Catarrh by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease.

An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of Catarrh, has at last perfected a treatment which, when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures Catarrh, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "Snuffles" and is sold at the extremely low price of one dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"Snuffles" is the only perfect Catarrh cure ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve hay fever or cold in the head.

Catarrh, when neglected, often leads to consumption—"Snuffles" will save you if you use it at once. It is an ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure Catarrh in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send at once, and while full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "Snuffles" the "Guaranteed Catarrh Cure."

Sent prepaid to any address in the United States on receipt of one dollar. Address Dept. Edwin C. Giles & Company, 2330 Market Street, Philadelphia.

The Prayer Before Gettysburg.

General Daniel Sickles told a story illustrating the tenderness of President Lincoln's heart as well as his faith in Providence and his beautiful optimism. After Sickles had been wounded at Gettysburg he was removed to Washington, and the president called on him at the hospital. When the general described the battle and the awful slaughter, "Lincoln wept like a child."

"While the two armies were converging," said Lincoln, "I went into my room and prayed as I never prayed before. I told God that if we were to win the battle he must do it, for I had done all that I could. I went from my room with a great load lifted from my shoulders, and from that moment I never had a doubt as to the result. We shall hear good news from Grant, who has been pounding away at Vicksburg for so many months. I am in a prophetic mood today, Sickles, and I say that you will get well."

"The doctors do not say so."

"I don't care, Sickles, you will get well," persisted the president.

And that afternoon, General Sickles goes on to say, a telegram was received from General Grant announcing the fall of Vicksburg. His own recovery soon followed.

The Single Thought.

"Ah," sighed the fond mother, "two souls with but a single thought!"

"Yes," echoed paternalism, "and less than one dollar. I don't know how they're going to make it, Mary, unless—er—perhaps that single thought they've got is that papa's going to put up for two!"—Denver Times.

In the Dumps.

There was once upon a time an Egyptian king, so it is said, who built a pyramid and died of melancholy. His name was Dumpos. The memory of his tragic history is perpetuated every time we say we are "in the dumps."

Accommodating.

Jinks—Have you got quarters for a dollar, old man?

Oil for the Children.

Give it to the peevish, fretful child, and he laughs. Give it to the pale, anemic child, and his face becomes rosy and full of health. Take a flat-chested child, or a child that has stopped growing, give him the oil, and he will grow big and strong like the rest.

This is not a new scheme. It has been done for years. Of course you must use the right oil. Scott's Emulsion is the one.

Scott's Emulsion neither looks nor tastes like oil because we are so careful in making it pleasant to take.

The Old Fashioned Boy.

At a little dinner of a few old timers in this city the other night one of the speakers said:

"What has become of the old-fashioned boy, the one who looked like his father when his father carried the sort of pomposity which was like the dignity that hedged a king in the time when kingship was in its break of day, the boy who wore a hat which threatened to come down over his ears, the boy whose trousers were made over from his father's, the boy whose hair had of his grandmother, the boy whose hair had of a cockle in it before and was sheared off the same length behind, the boy who walked with both hands in the pockets of his trousers and who expected between his teeth when his teeth were clamped together, the boy who wore boots run down at the heels, the boy who never wore knickerbockers or a roundabout coat, the boy whose chirography was shaped by the gymnastics of his tongue, the boy who believed his father was the greatest man in the world and that he could have been president if he had wanted to be, the boy who was his mother's man when the man was away from home?"—New York Sun.

Virtue of the Mafia.

Among the Mafia "onestà" is the great virtue. This virtue is said to be possessed by those who never under any circumstances help the authorities by giving information, not even of the crimes which they may be the victims. To give information is to forfeit all honor, to become a "cascituni," or spy.

This feeling which underlies the Mafia, which is not old, but was born in Sicily at the beginning of the nineteenth century, is due to the inborn hatred which the Sicilian has for government. Any interference of the authorities in his private affairs he regards with jealousy and distrust. In his eyes a man who calls on the authorities for anything is vile. He believes in settling private differences privately, either by fair fight or murder.

No matter what a member of the Mafia may suffer, he will never inform. If he recovers from an injury, he will avenge himself if he can, and if he cannot he blames no one and would scorn to even take the authorities into his confidence. A Sicilian proverb runs, "If I live, I will kill you; if I die, I forgive you."

Geographical Distribution of Hair.

The geographical distribution of the hair over the habitable world is, as regards the color, very precisely definable. The xanthochromic or light haired races are to be found north of latitude 48 degrees, which cuts off England, Belgium, the whole of northern France, Germany and a great portion of Russia. Between this parallel and latitude 45 degrees, including northern France, Switzerland and part of Piedmont and passing through Bohemia and Austria, there is a sort of debatable land of more or less dark brown hair, and below this line we come gradually upon the Melanic races. The people of Europe therefore present in the color of hair an almost perfect gradation, the light fluxen of the colder latitudes deepening imperceptibly into the blue black of the Mediterranean shores.—Gentleman's Magazine.

Queer Land Tenures.

Some of the tenures in England are very curious. A farm near Broadhouse, in Yorkshire, pays annually to the landlord a snowball in midsummer and a red rose at Christmas. The manor of Foston is held by a rental of two arrows and a loaf of bread. An estate in the north of England is held by the exhibition before a court every seven years of a certain vase owned by the family, another in Suffolk by an annual rental of two white doves.</

THE PRESIDENT'S CONDITION.

Sept. 13, 3.20 a.m.—The president's condition is very serious, and gives rise to the gravest apprehension. The bowels have moved well, but his heart does not respond properly to stimulants. He is conscious. The skin is warm; pulse small, regular and easily compressible, at 126; respiration 30; temperature 100.
9 a.m. Condition somewhat improved during the past hour. He is responding better to stimulants; free from pain, and conscious. Pulse 128, temp. 99.8.
At 12.30 p.m. his condition was reported as practically unchanged.

THE SHOOTING OF THE PRESIDENT.

The shooting of President McKinley last Friday while in attendance at the Buffalo exposition sent a thrill of horror not only through the United States, but throughout the civilized world. Three times within the memory of the present generation a president of these United States has fallen by the hand of an assassin. Lincoln was shot during a time of political excitement, at the close of the greatest civil strife in history. He was sacrificed to the malevolence and hatred engendered by that long struggle to avenge the sting of defeat. Garfield fell at the outset of his presidential career at the hands of a lunatic and disappointed office-seeker. Giteau in his insane act represented no class or organization. He stood alone, and was moved to murder solely by the workings of his own depraved mind. With the attempt upon the life of McKinley it is different. He was in the zenith of his popularity. He was the honored guest at a national festival, and extending the glad hand of friendship to all, when the red hand of anarchy reached out under the guise of friendship, and cowardly shot him down. The would-be assassin harbored no feeling of personal enmity toward him, beyond the fact that the majesty of law, the power of the government, was personified in him. Because he was the chief magistrate of the greatest and freest nation on earth, he was marked for slaughter, by one whose feeble mind had been wrought-up to the murder point by the teachings of the apostles of anarchy. These anarchists are at war with all constituted authority. They acknowledge allegiance to no government. They train under the red flag—the banner consecrated to disorder and violence. The preachers of this fire-brand organization may not sanction assassination in express terms, but they tell their dupes that society should be disorganized, and government as now constituted should be dissolved. Rattle-brained fellows of Czolgosz stripe naturally interpret this as an incentive to kill those in authority, and act accordingly. Thanks to prompt surgical attention and a strong constitution, the president will in all probability survive this murderous assault. In that hoped-for outcome, the law provides no adequate punishment for the crime. Although the crime in its very nature stands alone and separate from ordinary assaults to murder, the law unfortunately makes no distinction. The bullets that sought the president were aimed at the life of the nation. The shooting was the act of an individual—even admitting that no conspiracy existed—in open rebellion against the authority of the United States. The would-be assassin admits this much. The United States is fast becoming the asylum for the anarchists of the world. They are driven from European countries, where their infamous doctrines are stamped out by the strong arm of the law, and seek the free republic of the west in which to sow, without molestation, their treasonable tenets. It is time that special laws were passed to meet this condition of affairs. Any attempt upon the life of the president should be made a capital crime; punishable with death. Anarchistic organizations should be suppressed. Human laws cannot reach the secret workings of the mind. Individuals may nurse the spirit of anarchy in spite of all laws that may be passed, but the outward and visible manifestations of that spirit can and ought to be suppressed, whether the spirit crops up in a socialistic gathering or in the columns of the yellow journal.

ROAD EXPENDITURES.

It will be of interest to every taxpayer to know what amount of money is being expended upon the roads in this county. The road system is confessedly the weakest point in our local government. Under the very best system it would be a difficult problem to handle. Under an admittedly inefficient system it is a veritable sink hole for swallowing up the public money. We have compiled the following table from the official records, showing the amount of money that has been expended upon the roads in the various road districts, during the six years—ending January 1, 1901:

District 2	2890.00	4196.32	3977.41	1799.69	2898.61	3064.82	18388.65
District 3	1088.76	1014.69	1302.56	2973.08	2414.40	2075.27	11734.46
District 4	2231.91	2977.38	3844.48	1872.19	3117.97	2123.62	16110.45
Special Road Fund			1066.59	6341.47	5413.88	2223.94
Totals	$ 14572.15	$ 14879.92	$ 14083.29	$ 24472.84	$ 22650.31	$ 13987.15	$ 118115.57

The table represents the total revenue from all sources that has been collected for road purposes and actually expended upon the roads. It includes the money paid into the treasury from road poll taxes, but not the collector's commissions on such poll taxes. We venture to say the figures will be a surprise to many, although it has been well known to every one who has dealings with the tax collector that large sums were being dumped upon the county roads annually. If adequate results followed this yearly expenditure, citizens would not complain. Every one realizes the benefits accruing from good roads. But the outcome of this liberal allowance for roads meets the expectations of no one. Only a few years back a clamor was made to get the people to vote for $80,000 worth of long-term bonds, the money to be used for macadamizing the main highways of the county. It was preached at that time that this sum would fix the principal roads in good shape so that a very small amount would be needed annually thereafter to keep them in repair. The voters did not take kindly to the proposition, and voted it down overwhelmingly. A study of the table herewith produced will show that they made no mistake in jumping upon that scheme with both feet. One hundred and twelve thousand dollars expended on Amador roads in the past six years, not reckoning the expenditures for the current year, which have been unusually heavy. Over $30,000 has been spent on the lone road and connecting links in the past three and a half years. Nearly the same amount has been expended in six years upon the roads in township one, outside of the lone road. To make the showing still more remarkable scarcely any of this money has been devoted to the streets of Jackson. The town residents have the privilege of participating in the payment of road taxes, and are expected to pungle up for their own streets beside. In three years ending January 1st last, $66,519.29 have been used upon the roads in Amador county—an average of more than $22,000 per year. What have we to show for this vast outlay. There is a noticeable improvement for more than half the distance of the lone road; also the road between Jackson and Amador City is macadamized. The question is, Ought we not to have a much greater mileage of roads permanently improved considering the amount expended. Is there not something fatally defective in the system which gives so little for so much cost. We are not arguing for reduced road tax. We know that roads cannot be kept up without money. But we do contend that the sums we are now spending—and have been spending for years—ought to be productive of more tangible results. We do not blame the supervisors who are road commissioners in their respective districts. They are probably doing the best they can under the circumstances. The weakness is inherent in the road system, not so much in the men who are at the head of the system, and who are charged with the expenditure of the funds. It seems suicidal to cling to a system year after year which experience has proved to be a ruinous one. A return to the old plan of small road districts and a road-master elected in each district, would be infinitely preferable to the one now in vogue. We hope the people generally will agitate this subject, and demand such radical changes as are necessary to secure a dollar's worth of labor intelligently applied upon the road for every dollar expended.

THE GOOD OLD WAY.

Democracy never was much troubled on the question of civil service reform. The only reform worth inaugurating in the estimation of the members of that party, consists in turning republicans out, and putting democrats in their places—wherever and wherever they get an opportunity. At the last election Marin county went democratic. The board of supervisors is democratic by two to three, for the first time in twenty years. Amador county went republican in the same ratio for the first time in ten years—barring count-outs. But democracy, for the good of the party, believes in a strict application of the doctrine of "To the victors belong the spoils." They would have applied this in Marin county months ago had they been able to settle on the faithful few who were to be honored with the emoluments of office. A press dispatch from San Rafael says that at the meeting of the board this month by a strict party vote, Mrs. A. J. Saunders was removed from her position as superintendent and matron of the county poor farm and William Jones, a democrat, elected to the position of superintendent, while his wife was given the office of matron. At the same time V. Guide, a staunch republican, who for years has been gardener and janitor at the court house, was taken off the payroll, and his place filled by H. A. Ames, another good rustler after democratic votes. The slaughter was then discontinued, but it is understood that the stoppage is only temporary and that other heads are doomed to the basket. Civil service is not bothering the democratic majority and the faithful are clamoring for their reward.

Republicans are not blaming them for thus acting. They expected just such an outcome of democratic success at the ballot box. The much vaunted civil service reform was never intended to apply to such offices. It is absolutely essential that subordinate places be given as the reward of faithful party service. The officials who undertake to turn down this principle will be apt to find out—perhaps when it is too late—that they are simply turning down themselves.

McKeesport.

The following article, taken from the Atchison Globe, should be read by every man interested in strikes, and should be read by that yellow journal, the Examiner, which is doing all it can to injure, not only San Francisco, but the entire state of California. The article should be read also, by the miners and others at Jackson, who have been trying to organize unions here.

"The town of McKeesport, Pa., was made by the steel companies. When the strike of the steel workers was ordered, Mayor Black, of McKeesport, came out in an interview siding with the strikers. He did not attempt to be fair; he simply wanted to stand well with the men who had votes. He was in favor of anything; rioting, burning, shooting; anything to stand well with the strikers. The owners of the steel mills thought that this was rank injustice, and began tearing down their mills, with a view of removing them. The mayor then found he had made a mistake. The people of McKeesport blamed him, and he is now trying to square himself. Instead of counseling moderation, justice, arbitration, fairness, and common sense, he became a ranting fool, and talked nonsense that even the sensible strikers thought disgusting. A glance at the social and economic conditions of McKeesport shows that the city was in the most prosperous condition of any place of its size in Pennsylvania. The daily pay roll of the sheet steel mill that is being moved away is at least $6,000, or $1,800,000 a year. The daily pay roll of the National Tube mill, that may be moved away, is $27,000, or $8,505,000 a year. This sum of $10,385,000 is what keeps the city going. The mill hands live well and educate their children well. There is none of the dirty, squalid poverty that is to be observed in large cities. The citizens live in good houses. Many of the steel workers have built their own houses. Their tables are of the best. There are gorgeous barns, and rows of well stocked stores, filled with the latest and most expensive fabrics. The city supports three banks and a very prosperous trust company. Three newspapers are all making money. All eyes are on Mayor Black, because it was his tongue that has brought the city to the brink of threatened ruin. There is a panic in McKeesport. Property values are tumbling, and Black is held responsible."

A Shocking Calamity.

The West Side Lumber Company have adopted an excellent plan for encouraging their workmen and others to save their earnings. They receive deposits from $1 upward and pay 4 per cent interest thereon. Depositors are allowed to withdraw their deposits without notice. The idea is becoming so popular that it will no doubt lead to the establishing of a savings bank in this thriving town in a short time.

Calaveras Chronicle.
A young man named Leo Cordes, living between Angels Camp and Carson Hill, was accidentally shot with a 22-caliber rifle last Sunday, while on a visit to the Airola residence, which is about a mile and a half from his home. It appears that Cordes, in company with Mrs. Airola and a young lady, were spending the afternoon near the house, shooting at a target. A shot had been made, and Cordes was on his way to examine the target. The rifle was in the hands of Mrs. Airola, and when Cordes was about fifty feet away the weapon was discharged, the bullet taking effect in Cordes' back near the first dorsal vertebra, and close to the spinal column. Dr. Dorroh, the family physician, promptly advised the removal of the young man to the German Hospital in San Francisco, on the bare chance that an operation might save his life. He was taken below, agreeable to advice, but when he reached the hospital he was in an unconscious condition, and died shortly after his arrival. The deceased was a son of G. W. Cordes, an old resident of Angels Camp. The unfortunate lady to whom the accident was due, was nearly beside herself with grief, and, as a sequel to the sad affair, tried to commit suicide Tuesday night upon learning of the death. She seized a gun with that intention, but the weapon was taken from her. She then asked for some liquor, and while that was being procured she put some poison in a glass of water and swallowed it. Thinking that she had succeeded in her intentions, she told what she had done, but a physician was immediately summoned, and she was relieved of the dose. She still clings to her determination to suicide.

Stood Death Off.

E. B. Munday, a lawyer of Henrietta, Tex., once fooled a grave-digger. He says: "My brother was very low with malarial fever and jaundice. I persuaded him to try Electric Bitters, and he was soon much better, but continued their use until he was wholly cured. I am sure Electric Bitters saved his life." This remedy expels malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints; gives perfect health. Cancer, Tumors, Consumption no longer Dread Diseases
X-Ray now Thoroughly Cures the Most Malignant Form of these Diseases
The Most Scientific and Advanced Methods Used at Our Laboratory
The knife and drugs are no longer factors in the treatment of diseases; they belong to another age, and to-day the up-to-date specialist, who is scientifically advanced in X-Ray applications in connection with Static and Faradic Electricity, is a master of his art. Consumption is no longer to be feared. The medical faculty of Paris, France, has fully endorsed the latest cure for tuberculosis, as specific, and we have treated hundreds of cases successfully during the past year. The treatment consists of the TRANSMISSION OF MICROBE DESTROYING RAYS by means of static and faradic currents, passing through the patient's chest and lungs (see endorsed editorial in San Francisco Chronicle, page 3, Sept. 3, 1900). So thoroughly painless and harmless is this method of cure that the subject experiences no discomfort whatever under the Ray.
DISCOVER—It is now accepted fact, universally acknowledged among the medical profession, that CANCER is POSITIVELY CURED and ABSOLUTELY ERADICATED by the application of the X-Ray (see San Francisco Examiner, page 3, April 10, 1901).

Their business is to visit the different agencies, inspect the books, and report how the various offices are being conducted, generally. The financial affairs of the office here were found to be straight. Mr. I. B. Goldner, the agent, has been ailing for several weeks, and was unable to keep his books posted up. His health necessitated a vacation, and W. Dennis—a son of Jackson Dennis of Sutter Creek—has taken his place for a month.

A FATAL FALL.

Alfred Seabrook Falls Down a Stairway and Dislocates His Neck.

Alfred Seabrook was the victim of a fatal accident in Sutter Creek last Monday morning. For many years he lived on Sutter hill on the Watkins ranch, at the junction of the Sutter Creek, Ione and Volcano roads. On the death of his wife, and division of her estate, he received $1500 as his share thereof. This was about six months ago. Thereafter he moved to Sutter Creek, and boarded at Nixon's hotel. About two months ago he changed his boarding house to W. T. Madern's saloon, occupying a room on the second floor. Deceased was in a feeble state of health, being 69 years of age. He had been drinking considerably, and this probably had much to do with his sad end. About 8 o'clock Monday morning he appeared at Madern's bar and got a drink of whiskey. He went out, and a few minutes thereafter, the proprietor heard a noise on the stairway, and rushed out to ascertain the cause. He found Seabrook lying on the floor at the foot of the stairway, in a dying condition. It is supposed that he got about half way up the stairs, and fell backward, striking on his head with sufficient force to break his neck. There was no one up stairs or on the stairway at the time of the occurrence.

Coroner Gritton held an inquest on the body the same day, before the following jurors: E. B. Rider, J. W. Muirer, Joseph Bernards, Chas. Hoar, John Gardner, and George Beler. A verdict of accidental death was returned in accordance with the facts stated above.

Of the $1500 he had received so recently, only $67 was left. This was expended by his friends in defraying funeral expenses. Deceased was a native of Indiana, aged 69 years. He has no relatives here, except by marriage.

Mr. Geo. Horn is going to put on another shift to work on his mine, and push the tunnel on his property as fast as possible.

The Burbank girls are out again, after their long siege of sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. Bower have returned to their home in Yolo county, after spending an extended visit to Mr. and Mrs. Nace Williams.

Mr. Leonard Grey has turned over his business to his father, and returned to Stockton.

Misses Hattie Williams and Addie Phillips spent the 9th in Ione.

A barnstomer's outfit stopped in Defender last Sunday and gave an exhibition in the old Robinson house, Defender's hall, and was largely attended by the near neighborhood, as it was the first exhibition of its kind that has ever stopped and performed here. The S. E. Co. have gotten through grading at Marchand Camp, and the only men left there are the flume builders.

Republican Club.

The Jackson Republican Club held its regular monthly meeting last Monday, with a fair attendance. The resignation of Jas. E. Dye as secretary was received and accepted. E. V. Zumbell was thereupon elected to fill the vacancy. Dr. E. V. Longino introduced a resolution expressing the club's deep regret at the attempted assassination of President McKinley, and the earnest hope that the distinguished head of the nation will be speedily restored to health.

It was resolved to have an extra attraction in the way of refreshments at the next regular meeting of the club on the second Monday in October. As the heat of the summer is over, the club meetings will hereafter be made quite interesting, and everything possible will be done to make these monthly gatherings attractive, and at the same time strengthen the party for the coming campaign. The meetings are held in the hall in front of the Ledger office.

To the many kind friends and neighbors, who extended to us their help and sympathy in our late bereavement, we hereby tender our heartfelt thanks. B. S. FLAGG AND FAMILY.

The Ione Academy.

At last the long fight for some institution of higher learning which has been waged by the friends of education for the past ten years in various parts of the county has been won, and on Monday, September 23, Ione Academy will open its doors as the first institution of high school rank in Amador county. The event will be of importance not only to the citizens of Ione, but to every resident of the county as well. It is to be regretted only that Ione Academy must begin its existence as a private rather than a public enterprise, and dependent upon the generosity of a few public spirited men, rather than on the public bounty.

The history of the attempts made by the people of Ione to organize a Union High School is too well known to require repetition; the Academy idea was born of the despair and disgust which the failure of those attempts engendered. The Ione Academy Association was organized, and thirty-two shares of stock at $20 per share were sold. With this sum as a nucleus it was proposed to immediately establish an Academy. An unused church building was remodeled to serve as a classroom, and Mr. Alexander Gorlenker, a graduate of the State University, was engaged to preside over the future school.

The course of study which will be pursued during the first year is designed to give the student a good educational foundation. Few pupils graduate from the grammar schools with any considerable training in the use of the English tongue, and with the standard works of literature. The Academy will provide for a thorough training in oral and written expression, with special reference to correct grammar and spelling. Also several standard prose and poetical works will be read. In the department of history, the ancient peoples will be studied as a foundation for the study of modern history. The work in algebra and geometry will be prefaced by a thorough review in arithmetic. There will also be offered courses in Latin, book-keeping and business forms, the latter being for those who intend to take only one year of work.

If the Academy receives from the people of this county the proper support, there can be no doubt of its success and growth. The directors hope to increase the teaching force, and to erect a permanent building by next year. Every effort will be made by the principal and officers of the Academy to find good accommodations at reasonable rates for outside students, and at the request of parents, a general supervision over the deportment of these will be kept out of school hours.

Mining Notes.

Kennedy.—The east shaft has been sunk to a depth of 2400 feet perpendicular depth. At the 2100 level connection has been made with the workings of the west shaft. The east shaft will be continued down, and the intention is to make connections with the old workings at the 2400 and 2500 levels. It is the company's plan to erect a new 80 stamp mill near the east shaft next summer. There is no thought of abandoning the present 40 stamp mill. It is believed that both can be kept going, for an indefinite period. The ore body is 100 feet wide in places, of low grade, but carrying sufficient of the precious metal to pay, and leave a small margin of profit. The Kennedy is by all odds the biggest mine ever developed in Amador county, not alone in its production of gold, but in the number of men it will employ when under full headway.

Argonaut.—The shaft has reached a depth of 1850 feet. Work has been somewhat interfered with on account of building a new elevated track across the main road to provide dumping facilities. This will be completed in a few days, and sinking will be pushed ahead with all possible speed.

Preparing for Winter.—All the mines using oil for fuel have made ample provision for the storage of oil to tide them over the winter season. The contract with D. McColl, who has undertaken to deliver the oil to the mines, requires each mine to erect storage tanks capable of holding sufficient fuel to last 100 days. In accordance with this agreement the Oneida has put up a tank to hold 2400 barrels, the Kennedy 1500, and the South Eureka and Lincoln 1200 barrels each. The mine owners continue to be well satisfied with oil as fuel. It has passed the experimental stage.

AMADOR CITY.

AMADOR CITY, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Wm. Palmer of Oroville, and Mrs. Jory of Penman, visited relatives in and around Amador last week.

Miss D. Fox came up from Sacramento Sunday to be ready to take charge of her school Tuesday.

W. H. Coleman, principle of the school, came up from Gilroy Thursday.

Rev. Burchett and family have gone to Pacific Grove to attend conference.

Misses Hattie and Madge Hinkson returned Tuesday from Pacific Grove, where they have been spending the summer.

Mrs. H. Jeffrey has been visiting friends in Jackson. E. LOIS.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. Further use entirely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at D. B. Spagnoli's drug store.

CELEBRATION OF THE NINTH

Admission Day Festivities at Fullen's Grove.

A Large Crowd Present.—Plymouth Baseballists Meet Defeat.—Other Amusements.

The grand celebration and picnic given under the auspices of the Sutter Creek band and Mother Lode band of Jackson, at Fullen's Grove last Monday, attracted a large crowd of people, who enjoyed the day to the fullest extent. Every one seemed to abandon himself to the pleasures of the occasion. The programme was carried out without friction of any kind. Each person appointed to carry out any particular part of the programme, did so to the letter. The music was good, and the young people enjoyed the dancing until a late hour. Had the committee of arrangements expended a few dollars for sprinkling the road from the gate to the grounds, the people would have enjoyed the day to a far greater extent. As it was, the cloud of dust was so great that one could not distinguish his best friend a few feet away. This failure to sprinkle the road leading to the grove from the gate, was the only thing left undone, that should have been done, and should be remembered when another picnic is contemplated.

Wilfred Dennis, the president of the day, was untiring in his efforts to make every thing go as it should, and deserves the thanks of all.

Hon. R. C. Rust, the orator of the day, was in his happiest mood, and in his usual forcible and eloquent style, delivered a speech that was well received and highly spoken of by all.

The beautiful, patriotic, and soul-stirring song, "The Stars and Stripes Forever," was rendered by Miss Mae Fontenrose in such a manner as to find a ready response to the sentiments expressed, in every listener.

F. B. Le Moine of Drytown, read an original poem of considerable merit, and was highly complimented for his effort.

The singing of the glee club was beautiful, and was appreciated by all. The baseball match for a purse of $50 between the Amador-Jackson and the Plymouth teams, was won by the former in six innings. The score being 28 to 6.

The afternoon sports under the management of Messrs. F. L. Morrish, Ray Moehan and R. F. Moon, afforded considerable amusement for a lot of spectators, and resulted as follows: 100 yard race, free for all, was won by Robert Dufrene, purse, $5.00; 60 yard race for boys 16 or under, was won by young Little of Sutter Creek, prize, $2; young ladies' race was won by Della Martell, and the fat men's race was won by V. M. Colt. The picnic was a financial success; everybody is happy.

Has Been Chosen Pianist.

We notice in the San Jose Mercury that Miss Alpha Martin, the accomplished daughter of O. E. Martin, one of Amador's most respected citizens, has been selected as pianist of the Unitarian church of that city, and recently entered King's Conservatory of Music at San Jose to complete her musical education, and will graduate from this institution next January. It has not often been the privilege of the people of this community to hear a better cultured voice than that possessed by Miss Martin. Her excellent rendering of "Answer" at the benefit concert given last year at Amador City was something which will not soon be forgotten by those who heard it. During vacation her well trained voice could be heard in the M. E. church at Amador, and she has never refused to render a selection when called upon in aid of charity. The San Jose church has made a wise selection, and Amador county can look with pride to the future of one of her fair daughters.

Gentlemen: I write this testimonial from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past 12 years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I changed to see your sign upon your windows on 130th street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.

Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

The Captain of an Ocean Liner.

Nowadays the captain is the host of the ship. He is no longer the gruff, rough seadog in a pea jacket of years gone by. He must observe some of the social amenities; he must talk to the passengers now and then when the weather is fine; he must take his seat at table when he may; he must be a kind of diplomat also and possess wit and tact and a patience sublime; he must see that no jealousies develop among the passengers. I have been told of the very obliging captain who, to please the lady who asked to be shown the equator while the ship was in southern seas, posted a half across the large end of a syringe and told the lady to look. And the lady through the glass declared she could see the equator as plainly as A B C. One other polite captain I have heard of—one who directed an officer on the bridge to "do as the lady wishes," when the lady requested that the captain steer the ship over to the horizon so she could see what the horizon was like.—Captain Jamieson in Collier's.

A Keweenaw Prison.

The gate was wide open, and the courtyard was full of prisoners, and the surrounding buildings were old and tottering. I asked the chief, whom one of the two or three listless attendants called for us, why the prisoners did not run away. "Oh," he replied, "they would be caught and beaten again and kept longer. Now they will get out soon."

But as I looked at them I saw they did not run because they could not. The life was beaten out of them. The keepers brought the heavy red cord with a brass hook at the end and trussed up a man with it to show how the beating was done and then brought us the stiff rods with which victims were punished over the shins and thighs until the beaten spots were simply masses of festering rotteness. There was a room, black, foul, leprous, in which the men were fastened in the stocks. The black face of a convict was scarcely less merciful than this—Ladies' Monthly.

Seaponds Dessert.

The tribes on the coast of British Columbia hold a festival in the autumn, the crowning item of which is the partaking of a few spoonfuls of a bowl of seaponds.

They gather in the dingy lair, which are hung with the simple four-footed salmon. For light they stick into the ground, head downward, a silver fish about five inches long, set fire to the tail, and they have a torch for the fish burns steadily.

After eating of various unsavory foods there comes the great treat. This is a bowl of a frothy, soapy mixture, obtained by crushing in a not overclean manner the sapolith, or soap berries, and squeezing out the Juice. This is as much like seaponds as it is possible to conceive. The natives sip it from spoons of black wood, neatly carved, or which they think a great deal.

The Chinaman's Dress.

Those who understand the subject have to admit that when it comes to the question of rational dress the Chinaman has very much the best of it. American clothes are not made for the performance of much stooping or domestic gymnastics, but the Chinaman, in his loose, easy fitting clothes, is as free to stoop, jump, run or turn hand-springs as a small boy in bathing. In a Chinese suit of clothes you can lie down and sleep with the same amount of comfort that you can stand up and walk.

Comets of the Past Century.

During the nineteenth century 235 new comets were discovered as against 62 in the eighteenth century. The nineteenth century also beheld a greater number of large and brilliant comets than did its predecessor. The finest of these were the comets of 1511, 1543, 1558, 1581 and 1582. In the year 1800 only one periodical comet was known, Halley's. Now many are known, of which at least 17 have been seen at more than one return to perihelion.

Bound to Enjoy Himself.

"Now, dear," said mamma, giving final instructions to Elsie, who is going to take tea with a playmate, "when you are asked if you will have something, you must say, 'Yes, thank you,' and if you don't want it you must say, 'No, thank you.'"

"Oh, you needn't bother about that," Elsie interrupted. "I don't expect to refuse anything."—Philadelphia Press.

Two Faced Babies.

"Not that deceit is a born instinct, but some babies must be two faced in the cradle."

No Difficulty.

Phillips Brooks once gave a new version of the Jonah story to a wondering skeptic, who said he doubted whether a whale's throat was large enough to swallow Jonah. "There was no difficulty," said the bishop; "Jonah was one of the minor prophets."

A Long Wait.

Katrine—I was reading this morning of a man who cooked his own breakfast for 15 years.

Max—He must have been very hungry when he finally got it done.—Bombe.

STOPS PAIN

Athens, Tenn., Jan. 27, 1901.
Ever since the first appearance of my miseries I have been very irregular and suffered with great pain in my hips, back, stomach and legs, and the terrible bearing down pains in the abdomen. During the past month I have been taking Wine of Cardui and Theodor's Black Draught, and I passed the month without pain for the first time in years.

What is life worth to a woman suffering like Nannie Davis suffered? Yet there are women in thousands of homes to-day who are bearing these terrible menstrual pains in silence. If you are one of these we want to say that this same will bring you permanent relief. Consult yourself with the knowledge that 1,000,000 women have been completely cured by Wine of Cardui. These women suffered from leucorrhoea, irregular menses, headache, backache, and bearing down pains. Wine of Cardui will stop all these aches and pains for you. Purchase a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui to-day and take it in the privacy of your home.

The Irishman's Request.

In the days when dogging was in vogue as a punishment in the British navy a Scotchman and an Irishman, on the arrival of their ship in harbor, obtained leave to go ashore for a couple of days, and they overstayed the period of leave granted them. When they did go on an emergency, they were ordered 50 lashes each. On the day of the punishment a parade was ordered to witness the infliction of the flogging.

When all was ready, the Scotchman asked as a favor to be allowed a piece of canvas on his back while he received his flogging. The captain granted his request and, turning to the Irishman, asked him if he required anything on his back while he was being flogged, to which he replied, "If ye please, yer honor, I'd like to have the Scotchman on my back, if ye wouldn't mind."

It Was His Deal.

A mining engineer who has returned from Alaska brings, among other interesting news, evidence that the higher the latitude the greater the number of mosquitoes. Watching a poker game in which the stakes were heavy he saw a player give himself four acres from the bottom of the pack.

Burning with indignation at such shameless cheating, he turned to a bystander and whispered, "Did you see that?"

"See what?"

"Why, that fellow dealt himself four acres!"

"Well, wasn't it his deal?"

Why We Bathe. Professor Vivian Lewes, at the London institution, recently furnished the following answer to the question, "Why do we bathe?" Twenty-eight miles of sweat glands in our skin are discharging 26 ounces of water per day and leaving upon the outer surface of the skin a full ounce of solid matter.

These are added to the oil glands of the hair, which facilitate the adherence of external dirt. Hence the refreshing character of the morning bath and the necessity for grease absorbing alkalies in soap.

Softening the Parting.

Twelve was on the point of striking. "To think," cried the fair girl in anguish, "we will never see each other again till tomorrow night!"

"Bear up, sweet one! This was my encouraging remark. 'Time will pass. Besides, I'll write to you when I get home and in the morning.'—Philadelphia Times.

A Slight Defect.

A weather stained, creaking wagon drew up in front of a photographer's establishment in a Georgia town. Beneath its body a lean bound came to a standstill. A man clad in jeans trousers, homespun shirt and gullible of color or vest emerged from the vehicle's interior extremely. Settling his soft slouch hat on the back of his head, he adjusted his long gaiters and gave the lines to the wife and baby within. Behind these, from the dome of canvas beyond, peered, big eyed and solemn, numerous editions of the lord and master.

Entering the shop, the stranger paused before a case of sample photographs and, pointing to one, said, "Mister, what d'yer charge for takin pictures like that?"

"Three dollars a dozen," replied the clerk.

Turning his hands into his pockets, he turned thoughtfully toward the wagonful of offspring. "Waal, I reckon I'll have ter wait a bit," he said softly to himself. "I ain't got but 'leven."—Harper's Magazine.

One Passenger Too Many.

A good story is going the rounds of the offices of the Metropolitan Street Railway company concerning the wonderful presence of mind displayed recently by a new conductor on one of the company's trolley cars. This particular car was bowling along up Broadway recently when it was hailed and boarded by a company inspector.

The official hurriedly counted the passengers in the car and found that there were nine. Then he cast his eye up to the conductor and found that there had been only eight fares rung up. He disclosed his identity to the new conductor and called attention to the discrepancy.

"Begorra, an' you're right, sir," he said and promptly stopped the car.

"Say," he demanded, addressing the passengers in an authoritative manner, "was yez fello' followin' me to git off the car?"—New York Times.

Cleaning Oil Paintings.

An art journal suggests raw potatoes to clean oil paintings. Have a few potatoes at hand, each cut in halves. The fresh surface is dampened slightly with cold water and used to rub the canvas.

As the potatoes show soil the surface is sliced off and the rubbing continued. This process will create a little hole, which should be wiped off as fast as it accumulates with a clean, damp sponge. When the whole canvas is cleaned, it should be washed over lightly with clean water from which the chill has been taken and finally the water carefully wiped off with an old clean silk handkerchief. Raw potatoes to clean paintings are frequently in hearsay evidence, but this description of the process may be of value. It is suggested by way of reasonable caution that the experiment should be tried first upon a canvas of trifling value and upon one corner of that.

The Collection.

While lecturing his congregation rather strongly on a recent Sunday about slack attendance and small collections a minister of a church in an English city used the following eloquent and convincing sentences: "Yes, brethren, our collection of a little over $13 last Sunday included no fewer than 500 halfpennies. We all know about the widow's mite, and I am sure we are very glad to receive it; but I don't think there are 500 widows in this congregation!"

Witness My Hand.

In the early days only a few scholars, priests and clerks knew how to write. It was then customary to sign a document by smearing the hand with ink and impressing it upon the paper, accompanied by the words, "Witness my hand." Afterward the seal was introduced as a substitute for the hand mark and was used with the words above quoted, the two forming the signature. This is the origin of the expression as used in modern documents.

Novel Ammunition.

During the sieges of medieval times it was very common for the beleaguers to throw from their catapults and other military engines dead bodies of dogs, swine, together with pieces of horse-flesh and similar carrion into the city or castle besieged in order that the defenders might by the stench of this putridity be forced to a surrender.
